

Report for 2002RI3B: Electronic Conversion of Results of Research Sponsored by the Center

There are no reported publications resulting from this project.

Report Follows:

This project initiated the conversion to electronic format of published completion reports for projects sponsored by the Water Resources Center. During this phase of the project emphasis was on recent reports for which a file in word or wordperfect format was available. These were converted to pdf files and are being placed online for wide dissemination. During the next phase of the project reports with no electronic version will be first scanned and then they will be converted into pdf format.
